Browse Special Interest our Groups

The Society is subdivided into different Special Interest Groups (SIG's) that reflect the scientific interests of its membership. Each Special Interest Group is headed by a Coordinator whose task it is to stimulate scientific activities for his/her sub-speciality. Presently there are 6 Special Interest Groups:

Group "SIG-EED" Endometriosis and Endometrial Disorders

Special Interest Group for Endometriosis & Endometrial Disorders (SIG-EED) of the Moroccan Society for Endometriosis and Reproductive Medicine (MSERM). Here you can read more about us, our activities and our recommended reading.

Group "SIG-RS" Reproductive Surgery

SIG-S Reproductive Surgery is concerned to promote the usefulness of minimal invasive diagnostic tools in reproductive gynecology as well as to promote the surgical therapy of organic causes (such as malformations, polyps, endometriosis, adenomyosis, fibroids, hydrosalpinges...) leading to infertility, by appropriate "preservation" and/or as first step of treatment of infertile couples in order to re-establish fertility or create the best conditions to improve ART outcome.

Group "A" Andrology

The specific interests of the SIG Andrology are: male infertility evaluation and diagnosis; sperm function, physiology and biology; sperm freezing and banking, male prognostic biomarkers of success in ART; enhancement of reproductive outcomes acting on the male and/or the sperm; male infertility and the effects of ART to treat them in the offspring.

Group "SIG-RG" Reproductive Genetics

Special Interest Group Reproductive Genetics SIG-G. Here you can read more about us, our activities and our recommended reading.

Group "E" Embryology

The SIG Embryology is home to the central scientific concepts upon which MSERM is founded. The broad scope of SIG-E Embryology encompasses basic scientific advances through to laboratory practices and policy influence. The areas of interest of SIG-E include oocyte growth and maturation, in vitro models of follicle culture, fertilization, embryo development, embryo metabolism, embryo culture, oocyte and embryo micromanipulation, embryo assessment, oocyte and embryo cryopreservation as well as quality control and optimization of methods in the embryology laboratory.

Group "SIG-SQ-ART" Safety and Quality in ART

SQART is committed to quality of care and safety of patients. We continuously strive to improve care, decrease errors and meet patients' expectations by providing educational programs to support assisted reproduction practitioners in developing and sustaining top quality fertility care. SQART is tasked with improving fertility care worldwide, defining quality healthcare as doing the right thing at the right time in the right way to achieve the best possible outcome
